TRIALS OF ADOLESCENCE PICTURED IN CHASE COMEDY

By CAROLYN FISHER

Opening the Fall 1955 drama season tonight at the college will be Mary Chase's whimsical comedy Bernardine, in a two week-end run at the Auditorium Theatre, Nineteenth Avenue and Holloway.

Starting at 8:30 p.m. this evening the play will run tomorrow night, October 1, and next Friday, October 7 and Saturday, October 8 at the same time.

General admission for the production is ninety cents with a special sixty cent admission price for high school and college students. Reservations for the remaining performances may be made by calling the Creative Arts Box Office, JUniper 6-3536 between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. daily.

Based upon a background of Irish folk fantasy and a keen understanding of the contemporary American teen-ager, Bernardine is an imaginary girl from the half-real, half-fantasy realm of adolescent life, or as the guys from the corner coke-club call her: "rich, beautiful, and a little beat up."

Perhaps the miracle of Bernardine is not the character's great solution to a young man's maturing mind and impish ideas, but her wide audience appeal. There is a good deal of sound psychology behind Bernardine, psychology educators recommend for a keener, more thoughtful understanding of American adolescence.

Heading the cast are Don Huntington as Arthur Beaumont and Eugene Block as Leonard Carney. Other members of the cast include Kenneth Barbieri as Will McElroy. Bob Stephens as Morgan Olson, Ted Frand as Dave Gibbs, Jennifer Dicks as Ruth Weldy, Barbara Mee as Selma Cantrick. Jean Cantrick will be played by Pat Anderson on October 7 and 8. Charles Berringer plays Buford Weldy, Daniel Caldwell as Marvin Griner, Thomas Ramsay as George Friedelhauser, Karen Morril as Helen, Kevin Williams as Vernon Kinswood, Johan Rossio as Enid Lacey, Alex Alpers as Hotel Wolf. Norman Roddick as the bellboy, Ed Brindamour as A. J. Witnick.

The State Theatre production is under the direction of Dr. J. Fenton McKenna, Executive Director of the college drama department, with special scenic design by Arch Lauterer.

Initiating its tenth year of local play production, the State Theatre is beginning its second season of production on the new campus. A lobby display, commemorating twelve years of drama activity will show "State Theatre in Review," during the four performances of Bernardine.

Three more plays are scheduled for the Fall-Winter Season at the college. A matinee performance of "Steadfast Tin Soldier" will be presented on October 22. Cast calls are now on for "Liliom," to be presented on October 27, 28, 29 and November 3. 4 and 5. "Mister Roberts," which concluded a successful run on Broadway and in San Francisco, will be brought to the State Theatre on December 2, 3, 9 and 10.

AFROTC Courses Offer Value To All Male Students at SF State

By JOE GRIFFIN

Not so many years ago, when Teddy Roosevelt sent the United States fleet on a tour around the world, he most likely felt that a glimpse of America's powerful battleships would convince everyone that the United States carried "a big stick."

It isn't difficult to understand why Teddy thought that a view of the fleet would do this. The battleship at that time, while certainly not comparable to those later developed, was nevertheless a rather ominous sight, the largest single element of destruction then in existence.

Times change, and obviously so do the factors that constitute "a big stick." Today, gigantic battleships, almost twice as large as those Teddy sent around the world, sit in shipyards, mothballed, their apparent usefulness finished.

No one needs to be convinced that we live in an air age. And the "big stick" today has become a strong, efficient air force, capable of not only defending the nation but carrying the war to the enemy.

It follows, then, that because we are living in an age where air power is the basic element in defense, and where a nation's commercial activity becomes increasingly dependent upon air travel, citizens should have an awareness of the importance of aviation.

In order to supply an adequate number of well-trained officers for its continually developing organiza-

Air Officers Visit Campus in Action Planning Tour

Headed by Brigadier General Donald Zimmerman, a delegation of seven officers from the new Air Force Academy arrived here last week from Denver to study the organization and functioning of the general education program at SF State.

The Academy, which will begin its first classes this fall, has announced plans to place heavy emphasis on a general educational program for all cadets.

The group, which included a English professor and two philosophy professors, paid particular attention to the Division of Language Arts. Before leaving, General Zimmerman said that his visit had made a substantial contribution to the education of future air cadets.

On Friday, the party was hosted at a luncheon and reception at the home of President J. Paul Leonard. Acompanied by President Leonard, the officers also attended the SF State-Fresno State football game.

EDITORIAL

A Revamping of Educational Values

President Eisenhower's recent recommendation to extend both high school and college courses to five years length in order to better prepare students for the needs of modern life, is, to put it mildly, a naive proposal.

If, by this. the president would indicate that students of either schools are being graduattd without sufficient knowledge. we agree most wholeheartedly. On the other hand, if the chief executive fears that students are being sent into the world psychologically and vocationally ill-prepared, we would argue this point as irrelevant to the primary aims of our schools.

It would seem a more thoughtful and certainly a more far reaching solution to ready the student for life by making a more cultured being of him.

Intensive study on a higher educational level than that which has been presented in the progressive education of the past twenty-five years, is one of the more obvious steps in this direction.

This job is an overwhelmingly large one—in that much damage has been done over this quater of century—but a imminently necessary one if our schools are to fulfill their fundamental purpose.

President Eisenhower's suggestion has been rejected by many educators who are rightfully horrified at the prospect of detaining students in schools already overcrowded. It is pertinent here, we believe. to ask what the point is in prolonging an educational stint in either school if the curriculum and teaching methods employed are not improved. The enforcement of more stringent college entrance examination to weed out those who are not qualified is another point to be thoughtfully considered.

If these two suggestions were put into practice, colleges would certainly become less crowded and those who left the ivied walls of earning would surely be better equipped to "meet the needs of modern life."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NEED FOR SPEED IN CAFETERIA

EDITOR: I would like to make recommendations for increasing the speed of movement through the food line in the main cafeteria. Faster and more efficient service would benefit everyone.

The chances would be as follows:

1. Install an additional cash register at each exit with space for resting trays while the cashier takes the money. (It will be necessary to remove the flower box and move the water service elsewhere.)

2. Turn coffee urns around so as to allow patrons to pour their own coffee. Also, let patrons add cream themselves. Those now pouring coffee could be freed for checker service. (If they can add.)

3. Place silverware, straws, and napkins alongside the trays.

4. Place coffee urns and pastry nearer the beginning of the four exit lines for those who desire only coffee and pastry.

STATER TO TEACH AT ARIZ. MISSION

A San Francisco State post graduate student, John E. Wiley, 1431 Broderick Street, will join the missionary staff of the Presbyterian Board of National Missions this fall and will teach high school at the Ganado, Ariona mission on the Navaho Reservation.

Reared on a Texas farm and in Marshall, Texas, Mr. Wiley has been teaching in a San Francisco high school and working at Fort Miley Veterans Hospital. He has been studying at San Francisco State College for over a year.

Magazine Growth Creates Need for Staters Talent

Those students with promising talent in writing, painting and journalistic promotion are invited to submit their creative works to Sapien Associates, publishers of the local, art magazine.

All literary work submitted must be in a San Francisco setting, and should be mailed to 1244 Russell Street, Berkeley, care of Sapien Associates. All visual art work will be handled through various art colleges and schools and individual contacts.

QUOTE . . .

In learning, on the other hand, man can only be a master in one particular field, namely as a specialist, and in some field he should be a specialist. But if he is not to forfeit his capacity for taking a general view, or even his respect for general views, he should be an amatuer at as many points as possible, privately at any rate, for the increase of his own knowledge and the enrichment of his possible standpoints. Otherwise he will remain ignorant in any field lying outside his own speciality and perhaps, is a man, a barbarian.

MORE VIEWS ON RESIDENT OATH

EDITOR: Student wrath rose to new heights during the signing of the newly required residence forms. People were forced to leave jobs an dother pasttimes to travel to San Francisco for a ceremony that in most cases took no more than 20 minutes.

Most of the anger was directed against the college administration, but this time, as has happened in the past, the anger was misdirected.

College administrators were forced to deal with one of the most poorly written laws ever to come out of the State Legislature. They had to work their staff many hours overtime without pay. And with all this, they had no guide lines to follow and no money was appropriated to do the job.

The state colleges were not told whether or not the $180 out-of-state residence fee applied only to regular students or to limited students as well. They had no way of knowing whether or not summer school students would be included in the ruling.

Administrators were faced with the problem of students who had lived all their lives in California, and, because they had married people who had their residence in another state, being declared under the new law to be non-residents.

Considering the major handicaps under which they worked, we think that they did a fine job. We hope that students who were inconvenienced will vent a little of that wrath meant for the administration at the State Legislature who provided the state colleges with a pistol law to do a cannon's job.

LIKES WANT ADS

EDITOR: Three cheers for The Golden Gater. At last we have a want ad column. We have needed one for a long time.

The Daily Cal, UC's school paper, has been running a classified advertising section for as long as I can remember, and it has been quite successful.

I am enclosing an ad to run in this week's Gater.

By the way, I wonder if the stovepipe hat listed in the September 23rd edition of your paper has been sold.

—Jeannie Rodrigues

Editor's Note: As we go to press, three feet of the stove pipe hat have been sold. So gratifying was the response to this ad, that the advertiser generously donated the remaining footage to The Gater Staff. May we take this opportunity to thank our advertiser for his kindness.

Radio-TV Guide Will Produce Tragedy This Fall

Auditions will be held this week for "The Shell." which will be produced by Len Hansen, KRTG's chief anouncer. "The Shell," a modern day tragdey, is being produced to complete the Guild's current 13-week series to be broadcast over local radio stations. Producer Hansen says the acting roles are open to any member of the student body. Members of the Radio TV Guild will make up the production staff.

tion, and to educate young men in the important function of an air force, The United State Air Force conducts an Air Force Reserve Officers Training Course in various college campuses throughout the country. The course is designed to provide training, both professional and personal, which will enable the cadet to become a well-rounded junior Air Force officer.

One important function of the ROTC, a purpose sometimes overlooked, is to provide a valuable air age education, a course in military aviation, and the relationship of air power to international affairs. This may be acquired regardless of whether one wishes to pursue a military career.

Students enrolled in the AFROTC unit at SF State, in addition to classroom training in air science, spend a large number of hours engaged in actual flying. These flights are in various types of aircraft. Flights range from strafing and bombing runs, to flying in jet aircraft from the Naval Air Station at Alameda. In addition, cadents are given as much "stick time" as possible.

The course in basic air science is open to all male students, regardless of their major field. Physical requirements need not be met until the sophomore year. Men who cannot meet the requirements for a commission in the United States Air Force may still take the course and receive credit. Veterans may enroll in the AFROTC during their last two years at college. Outside of the other requirements that must be met, the age limit for veterans is 27½ years old at the time they receive their commissions.

The AFROTC program here at SF State is the same course taught in the larger eastern universities, Harvard or Yale for instance. The training program is coordinated by the Air University, Montgomery, Alabama. Besides establishing the program, the Air University supplies the various units with the latest aviation publications. Possessing the finest library of aviation publications in the country, the university is able to furnish the AFROTC units with special publications they might need.

Lt. Colonel David A. Murray, USAF, assumed the duties of Professor of Air Science this semester. Relieving Lt. Colonel John Hardy, USAF, Lt. Colonel Murray reports here from the Air Command and Staff School at the Air University, Montgomery, Alabama. Prior to that, Lt. Colonel Murray was the commander of the Maintenance Supply Squadron Ent AFB, Colorado Springs.

A member of the regular Air Force, and a senior pilot, Lt. Colonel Murray received his BS degree, with a major in political science, from East Texas State College, Commerce, Texas. He did post graduate work in the field of law at George Washington University.

Married, and the father of two sons, Lt. Colonel Murray has recently purchased a home in Burlingame.

Something for All Activities Offer

By Bill Boldenweck

The campus activities program, now moving into full swing of fal semester action, offers something of interest for every student, according to Jean Bunnell, Activities Counselor.

Headed by Activities Commissioner Vince Rafello, the Activities Committee plans and carries out campus-wide special activities such as rallies, the homecoming, and the State Fair.

Dances are scheduled after each football game, and at least twice a month during the remainder of the year. Athletic events, in season, are regularly held. with advance notice published in the Gater.

Cultural events, including lectures, poetry readings, and concerts are also regularly announced in the Gater, and published on the bulletin boards.

Individuals interested in the actual workings of student government are invited to attend meetings of the Directors, Control, and Publications Boards, all of which are open to visitors. Board meetings are held in Hut T-1.

Class organizations are also active in sponsoring events. The Senior Class, for instance, plans social and other functions leading to the annual Commencement exercises.

For those with special interests, there are clubs ranging from the Art Club, which features exhibits, movies, and lectures, to the Twenty-One Plus Club which sponsors events for older students.

There are also clubs of interest to those pursuing courses in many of the professional fields. Full information about all existing clubs on campus may be found on pages 10 through 12 of the "Alligator."

Students who might want to form new clubs suited to their special interests, as well as those with problems or ideas in regard to extra-curricular activities, are invited to discuss their ideas or problems with Miss Bunnell in her office, room 168A, Administration Building.

Owens Apology

In Le Roy Pacini's article on the Gator backfield last week, Owens, who averaged five yards per carry last year and is considered one of the finest Gator runners, was conspiciously left out of the story. This was due to a technical error and not because of any lack of ability on the part of the swift fullback who has been nicknamed "John Henry" by his team mates.

JAY TAGGART HEADS 1956 FRANCISCAN

Acting for the Board of Publications, which has yet to be selected, the Board of Directors this week appointed graduate student Jay Taggart as Franciscan editor. Jack Pennington was named managing editor of the 1956 yearbook.

Taggart has been associated with the Golden Gater for the past two years and last year served as managing editor of that publication. Last semester Taggart took honors as Outstanding Journalist.

Jack Pennington was a member of the Gater staff this past year and served as news editor of the newspaper during the summer.

"We're slightly handicapped because of a late start," Taggart declared. "but we've got a competent staff, larger than the one on the '55 Franciscan, and we're planning what I think will be a good yearbook."

Jack Pennington stated, "It's going to be a pleasure to work with Jack and what promises to be a top staff. I think we'll do a good job and give San Francisco State college students a real record of student life during the year."

The United States Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., publishes many phamplets of interest to the public ranging from "Deflection Characteristics of Residential Wood-Joist Flooring Systems" to "Bucky The Turtle Says Duck and Cover."

Free copies at Gator office.

WOLF PACK HERE TONIGHT GATORS BATTLE NEVADA

Not so fresh from their near upset of powerful Fresno State, the Gators do battle with dark horse University of Nevada here tonight at 8 p.m.

State paved heavily for their moral victory over the highly-touted Bulldogs. Bob Barron, only Gator end with any previous varsity game experience, was injured early in the game while applying a jarring tackle on a Bulldog, suffering a serious shoulder injury which will certainly keep him out of tonight's game and possibly many more.

With these two out, and the good possibility of two of State's best half backs, Wayne Taylor and Bill Conley, not playing because of previous injuries, the Gators may be ripe for an upset.

Nevada, who dropped 19-39 and 0-54 decisions to the Gators last year, has suffered a great loss in the graduation of their stellar q.b., Ed Jesse, but will have a better balanced team with more experience and a new zeal reportedly installed by new Coach Gordon McEachron.

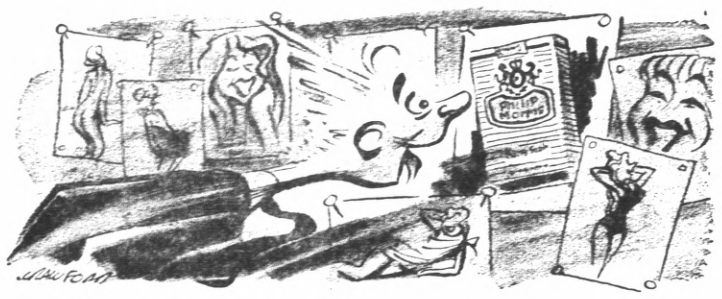
HURRAY FOR THE RED, WHITE AND GOLD!

There's a new package on Philip Morris Cigarettes. It's red and white and gold and pretty as a picture. You'd never guess that behind anything so bright and cheerful is a saga packed with action and passion, with love and romance and not a few tears.

It started quietly enough. The makers of gentle Philip Morris, as hale a bunch of fellows as you ever clapped your eyes upon, got to talking last summer during their annual outing on Attu, a secluded and unspoiled island, often called "The Capri of Alaska." Capri, on the other hand, is often called "The Attu of Italy."



But I digress. I was saying that the makers of Philip Morris, jim-dandy fellows every man-jack of them, got to talking on their last outing. "Don't you think," said one maker to the other makers, "that our brown Philip Morris package, though in many ways terribly fetching, doesn't quite reflect the basic quality of today's Philip Morris—its happy gentleness, its jolly lightness?"

"Why, yes," replied the other makers to the first maker, "we do think that our brown Philip Morris package, though in many ways terribly fetching, doesn't quite reflect the basic quality of today's Philip Morris—its happy gentleness, its jolly lightness."

"Let us have the pack re-designed!" suggested the first maker, whose name is Laughing Ned.

"Yes, let us!" cried the other makers, whose name is Fun-Loving Tom. "Let us! Let us! Let us!"

The makers forthwith engaged the prominent firm of package re-designers, Sigafoos and Associates. It was with full confidence that the makers entrusted the task to Sigafoos and Associates, for Sterling Sigafoos, the senior member, is known the length and breadth of the world as "The Grand Old Man of Package Re-designing," and his partner, Fred Associates, though a younger man, is everywhere regarded as a comer.

Sigafoos and Associates began their job by conducting interviews from coast to coast to determine what kind of pack people wanted for Philip Morris. The partners could not do the interviewing themselves – Sigafoos because of his advanced years; Associates because he is subject to motion sickness – so they sent our two trusted employees: Mr. Walker Nylet (Yale '51) and Miss Felicia Sigafoos (Radcliffe '52), daughter of the senior partner. After canvassing the entire nation and tabulating more than 90 million interviews, Mr. Nylet sent the following communique to the home office:

"Dear Dad and Associates,

I call you Dad because Miss Sigafoos and I discovered during our long and exhaustive survey that never were two people so admirably suited. We have accordingly been married and have accepted a position with the United States Government keeping the lighthouse off Gay Head, Martha's Vineyard.

I hope you are not too upset by this news. May I suggest you look at it this way: you haven't lost a daughter; you've gained a beacon.

Sincerely,

Walker Nylet"

Well sir, old Sigafoos fumed for a while, but at last he calmed down and went to visit the newlyweds in their lighthouse, bringing them a suitcase full of twenties as a wedding gift. It was there he learned that people want Philip Morris in the red, white, and gold package which you are now, I trust, holding in your very own hand.

©Max Shulman, 1955

The makers of PHILIP MORRIS who bring you this column beg to remind you that for a while you'll still be seeing Philip Morris both ways – in the bright new red, white and gold package, and in the friendly familiar brown.

TI Sailors Squeeze Gator Jayvees

Treasure Island fighting sailors took advantage of a missed conversion attempt in order to edge a determined SF State Junior Varsity eleven by a score of 14-13 last Friday, at the victor's field. The TI gridders, loaded with ex-college talent, had a real "sweater" all the way to the final gun with the Baby Gators. It was anyone's game to the very end.

PERRY, ANDERSEN, LEAD

Quarterback Merle Perry, and halfback Roy Andersen sparkled in the scoring column for State in the second and third quarters. Coleman hauled in a pass from Perry in the second period for State's first TD, but the all-important try for the extra point was missed, and this was the deciding factor in the Navy's win over the Baby Gators. In the third Andersen tallied the second touchdown on a driving buck from TI's 5 yard line.

Johnny Bush and Roy Ottoson figured on the scoring sheet for the Bluecoats on short one yard plunges from center.

MORAL VICTORY

Floyd Gonella, SF State Jayvee coach, was fairly content. He confidently stated, "Our boys played a fine game and it was truly a great moral victory for us." With men like Perry, Andersen, Gili Soto, Dick Tom, and the rest of the JV squard, Gonella is looking forward to a successful season. "These boys are young and green," Gonella said, "but they've got a lot of spirit, and that's what counts."

JV's HOST OAKLAND JV

This afternoon, the Junior Gators will tackle Oakland Junior College in what promises to be another hard-fought contest. Kick-off time is 5:45 p.m. and admission will be free.

The game is to be a preliminary feature preceding the tilt between the varsity and the Wolfpack from the University of Nevada.

WATER POLO CHANCES GOOD

Feeling that he finally has the material for a championship team, Coach Hal Harden looks forward to a winning water polo season. Confidence is based on the return of Norm Stupfel and Larry Soderman, three year veterans as well as men of two years experience like Bob Long, Ron Penil, Dan Matarangus, Wally Maycomber, and Bernie Selna.

As for depth the team will depend on returning players from last year's schedule, Paul Larsen, Jim Davis, Ben Ikus, Bill Zettler, Ted O'Roke, Ed Sullivan and Sam Citron.

In the practice sessions for the opener against Santa Clara most of the scoring has been done by forwards, Jim Davis, Norm Stupfel and Sam Citron. Standing out on defense Bob Long, Ron Penzil, share honors with Ben Elkus returning All Coast guard.

Probable starting team against the Bronco's will be forwards, Norm Stupfel, Jim Davis and Sam Citron. At guards, Larry Soderman, Bob Long, and Ben Elkus. Number one goalie appears to be veteran Dan Matarangus.

New additions to the team that won six of their twelve games last year are, Al Abertozzi, Robert Friebling, Robert Hagerhorst, Jim Marshall, Reid Sewall, Frank Termoore, Ralph Chin and Don Tallitsch. Managers are Bob Knapp, Ross Harris and Stan Korich.

STATE, CAL POLY MEET IN SOCCER GAME TOMORROW

For its first game of the season, the soccer team will meet Cal Poly tomorrow at 3 p.m., on the upper field here.

Returning veterans who will see action are John Bolonga, Sung Woo Chun, Vincent Leonard, Ed Nevis, Bill Olsen, Gus Portocarreao, Bob Quadrin, John Raiewski, Oscar Rivas and Vince Rafello.

Among the outstanding new players is Ed Parrins who is expected to make a very good showing

Bulldogs Edge Gators 20-12

A near capacity crowd of 4500 spectators was on hand in Cox Stadium last Friday night to watch the power-laden Fresno State Bulldogs overcome a stubborn Gator eleven to win the opening game of the 1955-56 grid season 20-12.

The Valley team scored first, however, when after a series of fumbles by both teams, the Bulldogs found themselves in possession of the ball on SF State's 48 yard line. On two successive line bucks, Fresno fullback Dean Phillpott moved the ball to the Gator's 34.

17 YARD PASS

Quarterback John Steinborn took to the airways next with a 17 yard toss to left end Darryl Rogers, and followed with a handoff to halfback Bob Garner who moved to the Gator's 11. Dean Phipott completed the picture on the next play when he powered his way through the center of the line to score the first touchdown of the evening.

The Bulldogs failed in two attempts for the extra point, the first having been nullified by a penalty, and the score remained 6 to 0.

There followed a sea-saw struggle which found both teams trying vainly to gain the advantage. Unable to move the ball, SF State was forced to punt to Fresno's 30 yard stripe. After a flurry of plays which netted them 16 yards, the Bulldogs were held and forced to punt.

Steinborn booted a 33-yard spiral which eventually came to rest in the welcoming arms of Gator halfback John Sochor who stood deep in his own territory.

Aided by superb blocking, Sochor angled for the side lines, then veered straight through a maze of would-be tacklers on the SF 45 yard line.

A final surge, and he was in the end zone for six points. Bob Rodrigo's attempted conversion was blocked and the game remained deadlocked at six apiece.

It wasn't until well into the third quarter that the score board registered a change, this time in favor of the Fresno aggregation.

While trying to move the pigskin out of dangerous territory, John Sochor, hero of the first quarter, fumbled, and Fresno's left end Rod Galloway recovered the ball on the Gator's 18 yard line.

Two plays later found the Bulldogs on SF State's 3 yard mark from which point Bob Garner smashed over for the score. The conversion was good and Fresno led once again, 13 to 6.

The Bulldogs began a sustained march which culminated with a quarterback sneak by Steinborn to put the visitors ahead by two touchdowns. Steinborn also added the insult to injury point and the tally increased to 20 to 6.

GATORS FIGHT BACK

Not to be completely outdone the Gators fought back with a drive of their own.

Starting on their own 24, they battled to their 43. Sochor again broke away for a 43-yard jaunt to Fresno's 14 yard line and SF State was in position. Three plays later, halfback Ed Coats crossed the magic line. The conversion attempt failed.

STATE STUDENTS VISIT EUROPE AS PART OF SUMMER STUDIES

For the past two years, Dr. and Mrs. D. Sterling Wheelwright have been conducting student tours to Europe's major cultural centers. This year, Dr. Wheelwright, instructor of music and humanities at SF State, and Mrs. Wheelwright conducted their third annual tour, taking with them a number of State students who were enrolled in Europen Field Studies in Creative Arts, one of the many Creative Arts courses offered in State's summer sessions.

Early in June, the Dr. Wheelwright's party departed from New York, flying to Paris, where they toured the greater part of the city, seeing such memorable sights as Notre Dame, the Louvre, Montmartre, the Arch of Triumph, and the Latin Quarter. They enjoyed an evening at the Paris Opera and were received by the assistant to the Mayor of Paris, finishing their stay after a private recital in the organ gallery of Notre Dame and a visit to the Paris Conservatory.

The party flew from Paris to Marseilles to Aix-en-Provence and a champaigne reception, later attending the Aix-en-Provence music festival in the court of the Archbishop's palace.

The party ended their stay in France with a visit to Cannes on the French Reviera and a short stop at the famous Casino of Monte Carlo.

After visiting some of the popular art centers in Italy—Rome, Florence, Venic and Milan, the party climaxed their trip with a visit to Bayreuth, Germany, home of the Bayreuth music festival and Wagner. Here they were received by Wolfgang Wagner, grandson of Richard Wagner, and conducted backstage of the Bayreuth opera house, meeting Metropolitan opera tenor Ramon Vinay, leading tenor in the Bayreuth performance of Parsifal.

Everyone in the party expressed admiration for the Bayreuth music festival and remarked upon the cordial reception given them by their European hosts, who were eager to facilitate the party's exploration of Europe's art centers.

This coming summer, Dr. and Mrs. Wheelwright will conduct their fourth annual group to Europe, adding three days stay in Vienna to the former itinerary. State students planning to accompany the Wheelwrights may anticipate a ready welcome from their European hosts, who have come to recognize Wheelwright groups as an important and cordial body of international cultural exchange.

Prof. Twillbrook, The Adventures of

By HAROLD PAINTER

Miss Thrillburn flitted through the rows of books, leaving behind her the faint smell of lilac. At last she found the Professor and alighted opposite him, smiling at him over a row of books.

"About my grades, Professor . . ."

The Professor looked up, and Miss Thrillburn looked at him in a way that would have caused an undergraduate to abandon himself to a life of total riot in the hopes that he would someday stumble upon the pleasures suggested in Miss Thrillburn's smile.

"Oh, Miss Thrillburn, I, ah."

"I know I don't deserve a B, but."

"Well, I was going to."

She pivoted gracefully around the end of the book rack, coming to rest at the Professor's side, reposing one hand on his shoulder. The Professor backed off.

"I did my best to . . ."

"Yes. Miss Thrill."

"The only reason I didn't hand in my papers was."

"I've, ah, taken that all into consideration and."

Miss Thrillburn reached for the Professor's necktie, and he made a hastened retreat under cover of a few stuttered excuses, and fled to his office where he spent ten minutes in confused preparation for his last class of the semester.

The Professor gave Miss Thrillburn a final grade of C to avoid the risk of seeing her again in protest of an F, giving Miss Thrillburn a final score of three F's, a C, and an A, the stemming from a young and unattached Professor of English, who was subsequently replaced by Miss Appleskin, who had spent some sixty-five years in superb dedication to Belle Lettres and staute art forms. Miss Thrillburn, of course, was barred from the campus, and Twillbrook was able to return to the library, and Spillplenty's 'Women of Rome' in comparative safety.

If you thrilled to H. L. Mencken's Newspaper Days or suffered with publishers of The Archive in It Happens Every Thursday, you probably nurture a propensity for journalism, its fast-paced and interesting moments.

Staffers for the campus' two main publications, THE GOLDEN GATER — weekly student newspaper, and THE FRANCISCAN, annual yearbook, are now being signed up in THE GATER office in Hut T-1.

Journalists, make-up and lay-out technicians, photographers, circulation and distribution managers and artists are being sought, as well as students who "like the feel" of a newsoffice and who are willing to aid the staff in various occupations.
